Officer and Noncommissioned Officer
Professional Development Program (OPD/NCOPD)

- Must clearly identify the DIVEN unit's main effort and how it shifts during the operation to support the division plan.

(1) Obstacles.

- Supplements the narrative above, focusing specifically on the details of the countermobility effort. Based on the nature of division-level engineer missions, instructions may concentrate only on obstacles in the rear area.
- Identifies obstacle zones used to support division deep, close, and rear operations. Assigns zone responsibilities, priorities, and restrictions to division-level countermobility efforts and engineer units.
- Identifies and assigns responsibilities for division-directed and reserve targets to be prepared by division-controlled engineer units.

(2) Situational obstacles.

- Concept for the employment of situational obstacles, focusing on how they will be used to complement or augment conventional tactical obstacle efforts.
- Discussion must include the details on NAIs, TAIs, decision points, and execution criteria if the scatterable mine target is division directed and executed by division-controlled engineer units.
- Clearly state the headquarters maintaining the authority to use scatterable mines and any restrictions on duration (by zone).

b. Tasks to Subordinate Units.

- Clear, concise listing of all tasks assigned to engineer units remaining under the DIVEN commander's control.
- Each engineer battalion and separate company headquarters remaining under the DIVEN commander's control.
- Tasks assigned by unit and generally listed in the order they will be executed during the operation.
- Clearly distinguished "be prepared" and "on order" tasks from normal tasks.
- Tasks/instructions common to two or more units are not included.
- All division-level missions identified during the estimate process, if necessary.

c. Coordinating Instructions.

- Includes tasks and instructions that are common to two or more units subordinate to the DIVEN organization.
- Must include all pertinent coordinating instructions listed in the division order.
- Does not list SOP orders unless needed for emphasis or changed due to the mission.
- May include reporting requirements common to two or more units if not covered in "Signal" paragraph.
