This resource allows you to engage in learning activities, search for high-quality learning programs, and access materials that support professional learning and leadership. Learn Take part in a range of online learning activities, search our learning programs and find national, regional and local events that meet your interests and needs. The activities aim to provide relevant and appropriate learning on a wide range of topics, as well as to stimulate reflection on your professional practice, with a particular focus on the positive impact of learning on children, youth and adult learners. Browse all learning activities Learn about the leadership programmes promoted by Education Scotland and those offered by recognised organisations such as local authorities and universities. Vocational training programmes offered by external providers have been reviewed and approved by Education Scotland. We currently provide all of our PLL activities remotely using online platforms. Go to programmes Search events related to Education Scotland Leadership Programmes and opportunities for professional learning. In line with the advice and guidelines of the Scottish and UK governments, we are currently carrying out all our PLL activities remotely using online platforms. Go to Events Explore the national model of vocational education and the basic principles and characteristics of effective learning. Vocational learning needs to focus on the education practitioner as a learner and how this relates to and affects the learning of children, young people and adult learners. The National Model of Vocational Training Vocational education is based on the development of survey skills. Educators are encouraged to engage in research and to integrate a research perspective into their daily practice.
